

Dr. Hau L. Lee

Dr. Hau L. Lee is the Thoma Professor of Operations, Information and Technology at the Graduate School of Business at Stanford University. He is also the Director of the Stanford Institute for Innovations in Developing Economies. His current research focuses on global supply chain design, value chain innovations in developing economies, and socially responsible supply chains.

Professor Lee was elected to the National Academy of Engineering of the US in 2010; and is a Fellow of Manufacturing and Service Operations Management, the Production and Operations Management Society, and INFORMS. He served as President of POMS in 2006. From 1997-2003, he was the Editor-in-Chief of Management Science.

Professor Lee obtained his B.Soc.Sc. degree in Economics and Statistics from the University of Hong Kong, his M.Sc. degree in Operational Research from the London School of Economics, and his M.S. and Ph.D. degrees in Operations Research from the Wharton School of the University of Pennsylvania. He was awarded an Honorary Doctor of Engineering degree by the Hong Kong University of Science and Technology, and an Honorary Doctorate from the Erasmus University of Rotterdam.

Professor Lee has spent many years on the POMS board. His service to the POM Society includes heading a variety of committees that have promoted major new POMS' initiatives. His impact has been felt in every aspect of POMS success.