Instructor of Supply Chain Management

The Supply Chain & Information Systems (SC&IS) Department of the Smeal College of Business at The Pennsylvania State University (University Park, PA) invites applications for an Instructor position in Supply Chain Management for a Fall 2021 start date. Salary is competitive.

Candidates must have at least a master’s degree or its equivalent in an academic field related to their teaching specialization.

The SC&IS Department comprises a vibrant, research-active faculty with research and teaching interests that traverse the end-to-end supply chain and includes information systems, data analytics, business logistics, sourcing, manufacturing, and service operations. The department offers degree programs in supply chain management, management information systems, and business analytics. The successful candidate will be expected to demonstrate expertise in supply chain management that would complement the faculty with high-quality teaching in student-centered and collaborative learning environments, and in both online and in-person modes. Candidates will be expected to teach undergraduate courses in supply chain management and engage in service to support curriculum, programs and student experiences.

The Smeal College of Business offers a collegial working environment and excellent campus facilities. It is home to the Center for Supply Chain Research® (www.smeal.psu.edu/cscr) which advances cutting-edge research and outreach in supply chain management. The SC&IS Department (www.smeal.psu.edu/scis) also has strong connections with the business community through various research centers that provide opportunities to interface with students and faculty across various disciplines within Smeal and across Penn State. This is a fixed-term appointment funded for one year from date of hire with excellent possibility of re-funding.

Review of applications will begin approximately April 10, 2021 and will continue until the position is filled. For further information, please contact Dawn Corman at drc18@psu.edu.

Applicants should upload a letter of intent, a statement of teaching, prior teaching evaluations, and a CV. Contact information for three references also should be provided.
