Michigan State University Supply Chain Management Position #816877

Michigan State University’s Eli Broad College of Business, Department of Supply Chain Management, has an opening for a tenure system assistant professor with expertise in logistics to start in the 2023-2024 academic year. Duties include research, teaching, and service and the primary teaching responsibility would involve logistics courses in the undergraduate program. Salary and terms are negotiable depending on experience.

The position requires a Ph.D. or equivalent degree from an accredited university. Candidates must have a demonstrated record of research excellence in logistics and supply chain management. Topically, preference will be given to candidates who conduct theoretically driven empirical research on managerially relevant, contemporary logistics topics. Candidates must have the ability to teach at the undergraduate and MBA levels. Further, candidates are expected to help the department contribute to the college's strategic goals.

Review of applications will begin October 14, 2022 and continue until the position is filled. To ensure full consideration, applications should be received by October 14, 2022. Applications must be submitted online at: http://careers.msu.edu. #816877.

For additional information, please contact Dr. Stanley E. Griffis, Search Committee Chair, Department of Supply Chain Management, Michigan State University, East Lansing MI 48824-4480. E-mail: griffis@broad.msu.edu.

All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, citizenship, disability or protected veteran status.