POSITION: Full-time Instructor position available starting August 2025 to teach undergraduate and graduate courses (on ground and online) in the Decision Sciences Department, such as management of information systems, management science, operations management, supply chain management, or business analytics/statistics.

QUALIFICATIONS: Master's degree (doctoral degree preferred) in Management of Information Systems, Management Science/ Business Statistics/ Data Analytics, Supply Chain Management, Operations Management, or related field preferred.

JOB RESPONSIBILITY: Nova Southeastern University (NSU) is dedicated to student success and academic integrity. The primary responsibilities of this position encompass teaching and service. The candidate will be expected to design and deliver engaging courses, assess student learning, and provide constructive feedback. Staying informed about current trends and advancements in the field is essential. A commitment to research in business disciplines that leads to publications and conference presentations is preferred, but not required. Documented success in teaching both in-person and online is also preferred.

THE COLLEGE: The H. Wayne Huizenga College of Business and Entrepreneurship is housed in a five-story, state-of-the-art facility on Nova Southeastern University's main campus in Fort Lauderdale, Florida. Faculty members comprise some of the best minds and most dedicated professionals in the industry. Their extensive experience in both the academic and business realms make them sought after as consultants in industry, government, and the nonprofit sector. Having worked with and studied under Nobel Prize winners, authored textbooks that are utilized in collegiate classrooms throughout the world, owned and managed corporations, and attained renowned status within their disciplines, our faculty bring dynamic, experientially global perspectives to the classroom, providing the support and guidance necessary for academic success.

THE UNIVERSITY: Nova Southeastern University (NSU) is a private, selective research institution of higher learning dedicated to providing high-quality educational programs at the undergraduate, graduate, and first-professional degree levels with over 23,000 students. NSU's colleges include business, law, education, engineering and computing, osteopathic medicine, arts, humanities, and social sciences, psychology, natural sciences, oceanography, dentistry, optometry, pharmacy and nursing.

For more than 50 years, NSU has been awarding degrees in a wide range of fields, while fostering groundbreaking research and an impactful commitment to community. Classified as a research university with "high research activity" by the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching, NSU is 1 of only 50 universities nationwide to also be awarded Carnegie's Community Engagement Classification, and is also the largest private, not-for-profit institution in the United States that meets the U.S. Department of Education's criteria as a Hispanic-serving Institution.
