

Tulane University
A.B. Freeman School of Business
Professor of Practice/Lecturer in Management Science

Position Description

The A.B. Freeman School of Business at Tulane University is seeking applicants for a non-tenure system faculty position (Professor of Practice or Lecturer) in Management Science. This is a full-time one, two, or three-year appointment in the business school's Management Science area. The position starts July 1, 2025. Salary, teaching load, and benefits are commensurate with other major research institutions. Hiring for this position is subject to final budgetary approval by the university.

Professors of Practice/Lecturers teach rigorous and engaging undergraduate and/or graduate courses across different teaching modalities (with a focus on experiential learning), remain current and relevant in one's teaching field through professional and/or scholarly engagement activities, and participate in service to the Freeman School and Tulane University.

Qualifications

Candidates are expected to be either professionally qualified (i.e., Master's Degree or Ph.D. in Management Science or a related field and a substantial record of recent professional experience) or academically qualified (i.e., Ph.D. in Management Science and actively engaged in scholarly and/or professional engagement activities). We seek collegial candidates with demonstrated excellence in communication skills and/or success in classroom teaching, experience with teaching Excel, and an interest in developing and coordinating hybrid, large scale courses to enhance students' knowledge in Excel and statistics.

Application Instructions

Candidates should submit via Interfolio a cover letter, a curriculum vitae, a teaching statement, student course evaluations, and a list of two professional references (with contact information) who can provide confidential letters of recommendation. Other materials may be requested later. Applications will be accepted until the position is filled or closed.
