Özyeğin University, Istanbul, Turkey
Open-Rank Faculty Position in Operations Management

The School of Business at Özyeğin University, Istanbul, Turkey, invites applications at all levels for a faculty position in Operations Management, starting Fall 2026.

Candidates for assistant professor are expected to hold a Ph.D. or be close to completing their degree. They should show the potential to have high-quality scholarly research and to deliver effective teaching in English at both undergraduate and graduate levels. Candidates for senior positions should have an established record of publications in top-tier journals, along with evidence of high-quality teaching. Teaching loads are internationally competitive, and salaries and compensations are commensurate with rank and qualifications.

We are particularly interested in candidates whose research leverages business analytics and artificial intelligence to advance operations management. Applicants with rigorous methodological training and a research agenda where AI plays a central role, whether through developing novel algorithms or applying AI techniques in ways that significantly deepen our understanding of OM phenomena, will be especially competitive. Work that applies these tools to domain-specific problems in OM or that integrates business analytics for decision-making is particularly welcome.

Candidates should submit: 1) a cover letter, 2) a curriculum vitae, 3) teaching and research statements, 4) representative publications or working papers (up to five papers), 5) a list of courses taught and course evaluations, and 6) complete contact information of at least three professional references.

Please submit applications to Dr. Bo Wei (applications-oper@ozyegin.edu.tr). Review of applications will start immediately and continue on an ongoing basis until the position is filled. Shortlisted applicants will be invited to a research seminar and interview with the relevant faculty, which may be conducted via video conferencing when needed.
