

Tulane University
Freeman School of Business
Visiting Assistant Professor in Management Science

Position Description

The A.B. Freeman School of Business at Tulane University is seeking applicants for a non-tenure system faculty position (Visiting Assistant Professor in Management Science). This is a full-time one-year appointment in the Freeman School's Management Science area. The position starts July 1, 2026. Salary, teaching load, and benefits are commensurate with other major research institutions. Hiring for this position is subject to budgetary approval by the university. Visiting Assistant Professors teach rigorous and engaging undergraduate and/or graduate courses, produce high quality scholarly engagement activities and publications, and actively contribute to the research mission and research culture of the Freeman School.

Qualifications

Candidates are expected to hold a Ph.D. in Management Science or a related discipline by July 1, 2026. We seek collegial candidates with evidence of strong research skills. Candidates are also expected to be interested in experiential learning, and to possess strong teaching potential with expertise in data exploration/data mining, using Excel, R, and Python, and in data visualization, using Tableau and Power BI.

Application Instructions

Candidates should submit a cover letter, a curriculum vitae, working research papers, a teaching statement and student course evaluations, and a list of two professional references (with contact information) who can provide confidential letters of recommendation. Other materials may be requested later. Applications will be accepted until the position is filled or closed.
