

Assistant Professor of Supply Chain Management

Job #: 078948

Location Syracuse, NY

Pay Range: $170,000 - $190,000

Hours: Determined by Department Chair

Office hours required

Job Type: Full-time

Job Description:

The successful candidate will pursue and promote a progressive research agenda that advances the field of supply chain management (SCM), while also contributing to ongoing teaching and service efforts within the Whitman School and among its community partners. We expect the selected individual for this hire to join the faculty for the 2027-28 academic year.

The Supply Chain Management program at the Whitman School has an outstanding history of excellence. It was the first SCM program in the nation, created in 1919. The SCM program offers degree programs at the undergraduate, masters and doctoral levels, as well as a standalone MS Supply Chain Management program in both residential and online formats. The SCM faculty are highly research active and publish regularly in leading journals. The SCM faculty also have high levels of visibility in professional organizations such as MSOM and INFORMS, as well as in the public press. Among other activities, the SCM faculty has, since 1949, hosted the annual Salzberg Memorial Lecture program that recognizes exemplary practitioners and scholars. Among other accolades, the SCM program is ranked among the top 25 nationally by Gartner for both undergraduate and graduate programs. The doctoral program maintains a cohort of research scholars.

SCM faculty members are expected to engage in world-class scholarly research, teach courses in supply chain management (core or elective courses), contribute to service-related initiatives and organizational citizenship, and work collaboratively with other faculty members.

Successful candidates should have earned a doctorate from an accredited program or expect degree completion by summer 2027. We are looking for candidates with a clear focus on supply chain management and a demonstrated willingness to conduct high-quality scholarly supply chain management research and publish in leading academic journals. Candidates should also have demonstrated potential for teaching excellence, including using innovative pedagogical approaches, and have the ability to contribute positively to a participative, collegial setting. Applications must be made via Syracuse University's job application website: <http://www.sujobopps.com/>. Salary is competitive and commensurate with experience and qualifications.

Qualifications:

PhD in supply chain management or related field by the start of the position.

Education and Experience:

Job Specific Qualifications:

Successful candidates for this position will have:

- PhD completed in SCM or related field (such as operations management, analytics, industrial engineering, operations research);
- A background in areas related to procurement, technology, and AI use within SCM;
- Demonstrated research ability and promise;
- Strong teaching skills and demonstrated levels of excellence in classroom performance;
- Enthusiasm for working in a dedicated group of supply chain management faculty that conduct academic work and with connections to industry;

- Collegiality, with strong verbal and communication skills and the interpersonal skills to work with students, faculty, and staff.

Skills and Knowledge:

Responsibilities:

The Assistant Professor of Supply Chain Management has the following responsibilities:

- Will teach in-person courses every year, with specific courses determined by the Chair of the Marketing Department of the Whitman School of Management;
- Engage in world-class scholarly research with an emphasis on top-tier journal publications;
- Contribute to service-related initiatives in the supply chain management area;
- Other student-related service as assigned.

About Syracuse University:

Syracuse University is a private, international research university with distinctive academics, diversely unique offerings, and an undeniable spirit. Located in the geographic heart of New York State, with a global footprint, and over 150 years of history, Syracuse University offers a quintessential college experience.

The scope of Syracuse University is a testament to its strengths: a pioneering history dating back to 1870; a choice of more than 200 majors, 100 minors, and 200 advanced degree programs offered across the University's 13 schools and colleges; over 15,000 undergraduates and over 6,000 graduate students; more than a quarter of a million alumni in 160 countries; and a student population from all 50 U.S. states and 123 countries. For more information, please visit <http://www.syracuse.edu>.

About the Syracuse area:

Syracuse is a medium-sized city situated in the geographic center of New York State approximately 250 miles northwest of New York City. The metro-area population totals approximately 500,000. The area offers a low cost of living and provides many social, cultural, and recreational options, including parks, museums, festivals, professional regional theater, and premier shopping venues. Syracuse and Central New York present a wide range of seasonal recreation and attractions ranging from water skiing and snow skiing, hiking in the Adirondacks, touring the historic sites, visiting wineries along the Finger Lakes, and biking on trails along the Erie Canal.

Application Deadline:

Full Consideration By:

Open Until Filled: Yes

Priority Consideration: 09/30/2026

To apply, visit <https://www.sujobopps.com/postings/114059>

Syracuse University is an equal-opportunity institution. The University prohibits discrimination and harassment based on race, color, creed, religion, sex, gender, national origin, citizenship, ethnicity, marital status, age, disability, sexual orientation, gender identity and gender expression, veteran status, or any other status protected by applicable law to the extent prohibited by law. This nondiscrimination policy covers admissions, employment, and access to and treatment in University programs, services, and activities.

Syracuse University has a long history of engaging veterans and the military-connected community through its educational programs, community outreach, and employment programs. After World War II, Syracuse University welcomed more than 10,000 returning veterans to our campus, and those veterans literally transformed Syracuse University into the national research institution it is today. The University's contemporary commitment to veterans builds on this historical legacy, and extends to both class-leading initiatives focused on making an SU degree accessible and affordable to the post-9/11 generation of veterans, and also programs designed to position Syracuse University as the employer of choice for military veterans, members of the Guard and Reserve, and military family members.

je-6ebfc7e28b234e8fa519fe476baa94aa