

Open-Rank Clinical Professor in Supply Chain Management

POSITION SPECIFICS

The SCIS Department of the Smeal College of Business at The Pennsylvania State University (University Park, PA) invites applications for a clinical professor position in Supply Chain and Information Systems for a Spring 2027 start date. Salary is competitive. Onsite teaching is an essential function of the job.

Candidates must have a terminal degree in supply chain management, information systems, business analytics or related field prior to their start date. A strong commitment to teaching excellence at the undergraduate and graduate programs is required. Evidence of prior teaching experience is desirable.

The SCIS Department comprises a vibrant, research-active faculty with research and teaching interests that traverse the end-to-end supply chain and includes information systems, data analytics, business logistics, sourcing, and operations. The department offers degree programs in supply chain management, management information systems, and business analytics. We seek outstanding candidates with expertise in supply chain management and/or business analytics that would complement the faculty with high-quality teaching in student-centered and collaborative learning environments. Candidates should be able to teach undergraduate and master level courses in supply chain management, business analytics, and information systems.

The Smeal College of Business offers a collegial working environment and excellent campus facilities. It has the Center for Supply Chain Research® (<http://www.smeal.psu.edu/cscr>) which advances cutting-edge research and outreach in supply chain management. The SC&IS Department (<http://www.smeal.psu.edu/scis>) also has strong connections with the business community through various research centers that provide opportunities to interface with faculty across various disciplines within Smeal and across Penn State. For more information, please visit <http://www.smeal.psu.edu/research-centers>.

Review of applications will begin approximately August 27, 2026, and will continue until the position is filled. For further information, please contact Autumn Knepp at adh5253@psu.edu.

Applicants should upload a letter of intent, a statement of teaching philosophy, and a CV. Contact information for three references also should be provided.

BACKGROUND CHECKS/CLEARANCES

Employment with the University will require successful completion of background check(s) in accordance with University policies.
